

Second degree programme (MA)

A graduate of an MA cycle majoring in Communication in International Business and Administration:

- may easily find employment in international corporations, offshore companies, national enterprises, foreign trade offices, translation agencies, territorial self-government institutions and multinational organizations requiring an impeccable command of English language and culture;
- fluently uses business English in speaking and writing (C2 level);
- applies their knowledge and practical language skills in the realm of translation in reference to law, economy, documentation, public speaking, which enables one efficient functioning in an international environment;
- is oriented towards broadening their knowledge in the realm of specialist language, raising their professional qualifications and acquiring new skills.

Table 2. Second degree programme (MA)

Specialization: Communication in International Business and Administration

WARSAW SCHOOL OF APPLIED LINGUISTICS

Practical Educational Profile /2nd Cycle

Field of studies: Philology

Specialty: English Language

Mode of study: full time

2 year course of studies

Subjects	Number of hours
A. General subjects
Linguistic competence mastering C2	360
Academic Writing with Lexical and Grammatical Structures
Public Speaking
Working with text
B. Core subjects	48
Methodology of linguistic research /Proseminar
Linguistics (3 out of 6)	60
Mechanisms of international communication
Methods and directions in linguistics
Specialist lexicography and terminological research
Multilingualism of modern societies
Specialist text as a subject of linguistic research
Language-Culture-Identity

Selected aspects of psycho- or sociolinguistics	24
Introduction to Psycholinguistics
Introduction to Sociolinguistics
Selected aspects of history of literature
Selected aspects of literary or cultural studies	24
Electives pertaining to the literary studies (examples)	40
Mythical motives in English poetry
Biblical motives in English literature
Analysis and interpretation of selected works of English poetry
The Angry Young Men: the analysis of major works of the movement.
Hamlet – literary analysis
The aspects of power in W. Shakespeare’s plays.
Electives pertaining to the cultural studies (examples)	40
Culture of Scotland
Film Adaptations of Great Works of English Literature
Film Adaptations of the Works of Edward Morgan Forster
Sociology of culture: selected aspects
The world and language of subcultures
Literature, philosophy, cultural studies
C. Major in Communication in the field of International Business and Administration
Interculturality in international cooperation A/B	30
Specialist terminology of law, economy and business A/B	30
Business and commercial correspondence A/B	24
Language of meetings, presentations and negotiation B	24
Written communication in administration and business B / A	48
Oral communication in administration and business B / A	32
Language of meetings, presentations and negotiation B	24
The art. of public speaking B	24
MA Thesis
Traineeship	160
D. Other requirements
Occupational and safety requirements	4
Copyright, intellectual property protection A	10
Physical education	30